LOST IN THE DESERT.

RECOVERY EXPEDITIONS PRUITLESS.

According to information received, from the War Ministry, it appears that a detachment of the Camel Corps, consisting of 25 men, under the command of Mulazim Awal Ali el Hassan, has been missing for more than a month The detachment set out from Bir-Natron in April last, and as no news has been received of it since that date the authorities fear that the party must have been overtaken by a severe sandstorm and strayed from the beaten track.

It is believed that the detachment is now wandering somewhere in the desert to the south of Abou Tabari. Every possible attempt has been made to discover the whereabouts of the missing men and several expeditions have been despatched from Dongola with orders to search the entire district, but, unfortunately, very bad sandstorms were encountered and, as yet, no trace has been found of the stray

Rebuilding a Town.

The Government has decided to rebuild Matarieh where 2,013 houses out of a total of 2,300 were recently destroyed by fire. The new town will contain 340 groups of honses each from 840 to 2,500 square metres in area. each The The total amount of subscriptions for the viction of the conflagration amounts up to-date to 1.E. 18,985.277.

Movement of Population. One of the notable facts brought out by the census is the movement of population away from the Mousky and old Cairo. The Mousky is becoming less a residential and more a business quarter while the population of the densely inhabited network of alleys in old Cairo are gradually moving towards the newer quarters of the capital.

Important Property Sale.

The Alexandria Central Buildings have sold to Mouheb Pasha, Governor of the Suez Canal, a big block of old houses opposite the Alexandria Bourse for £120,000. The existing oridings are to be pulled down and a magnificent building for offices and shops rected in its place. All the present tenants have received notice to quit.

Telegraph and Telephone

Some anusement is being caused in official circles by the constantly recurring report that the telegraph line from Caro to Alex andria is being doubted, whereas there are already several telegraphic lines. The fact of the case is that new trunk telephone lines are being laid. The trunk telephone lines are the property of the Telegraph Administration and some of them are leased to the Telephone Company of Egypt Ltd. We understand that the new telegraph line to Merso Matrouh will be completed in a few days time. This line will be gradually prolonged until it ultimately reaches the frontier.

When for the first time in 1900 some 17 girl-candidates presented themselves for the Primary Education Certificate Examination, and five (of whom four were Egyptians) obtained the Primary Education Certificate, it was generally regarded as marking the begin-ning of a new era in the development of female education in Egypt, Since that time no fewer than 112 girls have presented themselves for the Primary Certificate Examination, and 43 (of whom 38 were Egyptians) have obtained the Primary Education.

During the past week another record has been created by the success of an Egyptian Mohammedan girl at the Secondary Education Certificate Examination, this being the first time in the history of the Examination that any girl-candidate has obtained the Secondary any grit-candidate has obtained the Secondary Certificate. It is thus, apparent that, although proceeding with commendable quietness and in befitting seclusion, female education is develop-ing in Egypt with remarkable rapidity. Not only is this evidenced by the growing attend-ance of girls in the kuttabs and schools for girls which are under the direction of the Ministry of Education, and by the results at various examinations for Certificates and Diplomas, but also by the willingness of parents to allow their daughters to be trained and undertake service as teachers.

In accordance with immemorial custom such girls as go to the kuttabs throughout Egypt are taught together with the boys in mixed classes. In 1905 the Ministry of Educaion made a new departure by establishing three kuttabs for girls only. It has now unde its direction seven, kuttabs set apart exclu-sively for girls and staffed by Egyptian female teachers, and also a Normal School at Boula for training Egyptian girls as teachers for kuttabs. Eight Moslem girls have qualified by examination as head-teachers in kuttabs, whilst 12 have qualified as assistant teachers. 40 girls are now under trainining as teachers in the Boulac Normal School for Women Teachers in kuttabs

In the two Higher Primary Schools for girls (Sanich Schools and Abbas School) under the Ministry of Education, there are now 341 girls in attendance, in addition to 14 students in the Training College attached to the Sanieh Girls' School. No fewer than 20 girls (of whom 16 are Egyptians) have during the past five years obtained the Diploma of the Sanieh Training College for female teachers in Higher Primary Schools, and one Egyptian girl has undergone a course of professional training in Stockwell Training College in England and obtained the diploma of the English Board of Education.

It would be wrong to assume' that the aim of the Education Department as regards female education in Egypt are represented by the number of girls who pass its public and professional examinations. This aspect of the development that is going on is necessarily somewhat prominent owing to the fact that it is one of the Department's most pressing and important duties to create a supply of qualified Egyptian women teachers. The practical and domestic side of female education is, however, by no means being neglected. For example, in the Boulac Normal School for Women Teachers in Kuttabs, not only are the girl-students taught sewing and home-dressmaking, but also cooking, laundry work, cottage-gardening, the simple laws of health and other subjects of domestic utility. In the new kuttab for girls which is about to be built at Damietta, partly by private initiative and partly by Government, aid, it is hoped to make provision by which these domestic subjects may in turn be taught

FRENCH JOURNAL'S REMARKS.

Sir Eldon Gorst will remain at the summe quarters of the British Agency at Balkeley until the latter part of July, when he will leave for home. During his absence in England Mr. Ronald Graham will act as Agent.

The Parisian "Temps" having published the Khedive's and Sir Eldon Gorst's speeches on the occasion of the presentation of the Exequa-tur, indulges in the following reflection :---

"Les journaux d'Egypte reflètent une impression plutôt optimiste sur l'avenir de ces relations entre l'agent anglais et le Khédive Sir Eldon Gorst serait décidé à faire de moins d'autoritarisme que son prédécesseur. On s'é-tonne cependant qu'il garde près de lui l'an-cien secrétaire oriental de l'agence, M. Boyle, qui a toujours été considéré comme l'éminenc rise de lord Cromer, et l'un de ceux qui portent les plus graves responsabilités dans les erreurs (sic) de la politique anglaise en Egypte notamment dans l'affaire de Denchawai! The Parisian newspaper appears to be under a delusion as to any surprise having been ex-pressed at Mr. Harry Boyle's remaining at the Agency. That gentleman's profound know-ledge of Egypt render his retention a matter of course and, on the contrary, the greatest surprise would have been expressed if his valuable services were dispensed with by his transference to another post.

A STRANGE TRIBUTE TO LORD CROMER

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "EGYPTIAN GAZETTE.

Sir,-Amidst the many and varied tributes to Lord Cromer which have appeared in the world's Press within the last few weeks, not one surpasses in originality that which I dis-covered in Sunday's issue of a recent Cairo morning publication. It was contained in a lead-ing article, to which the letters "R. W. J." were appended. The writer after discoursing on Lord Cromer's memorial terminates his article of the unborn generations of the country he himself re-created R.W.J

The concluding words, which I have ita licised, contain what is beyond the shadow of a doubt the most amazing tribute to his Lordship, which has yet appeared in any newspaper in the world. What "R.W.J." meant by "the unborn generations of the country he (Lord Cromer) himself re-created" I defy him or anyone else to explain. It would be difficult for Lord Cromer to "create a generation." "To create an unborn generation" in this country is a still more impossible task, but "to re create an unborn generation 111" Whether an appeal be made to Ilithyia or bio-genesis the recreation of unborn genera-tions will be found to be a feat beyond the scope of either the goddess or the science, and, I venture to state, equally beyond the powers of any person with the slightest knowledge of language to make head or tail of."

I am, Sir, Truly yours PERPLEXED. Cairo, 27th May

["Perplexed" evidently appears to conside that "unborn generations" is the object of "re-created." In all probability "country" is the object Ed. E.G.]

SIR BENJAMIN BAKER.

AN APPRECIATION.

As an exponent of modern methods Sir Benjamin Baker united scientific knowledge Benjamin Baker united scientific knowledge with practical training and experience, and on both sides his attainments received ample re-cognition. The Royal Society made him a Fellow in 1890; honorary degrees were bestow-ed upon him by the Universities of Cambridge and Edinburgh, by the Irish Academy, and other bodies; he was a recognized leader in the work of the British Association. Engineering societies honoured his work no less. In 1895 he reached the highest position attainable by a British civil engineer, being elected President of the Institution of Civil Engineers. Up to his death Institution of Civil Engineers. Up to his death he remained an active and influential member of the council of that institution and of the council of the Institution of Mechanical Engineers. He was made an honorary member many engineering societies, including the American and Canadian Societies of Civil Engineers, and the American Society of Mechan-ical Engineers. In the work of the Royal Institution he was deeply interested, and it is understood that he attended the Friday even ing meeting last week. In many and varied departments of knowledge unconnected with engineering Sir Benjamin Baker was well in structed, and his interests were in no sense limited to the professional work which had occupied his main energies. He was essentially a man of broad human sympathies, disguised it may be to some extent under a well of reserve and apparent cynicism, but those who knew him best realized that a warm heart beat beneath and that no truer friend could be found in time of need. His loss will be felt widely, within and without the profession he adorned. On the completion of the Forth Bridge in 1890 Sir Benjamin Baker was made K.C.M.G.; and when the Assuan Dam was declared complete by the Duke of Connaught in 1902 he was made K.C.B. besides being honoured by the Khedive. As to the details of his achievements as a

As to the details of his achievements as an engineer it is impossible to speak here. The Forth Bridge undoubtedly over its inception in its present form to Sir Benjamin Baker, although he was at the time of the design a partner with the late Sir John Fowler, and was always most desirous of acknowledging the valuable assistance which Sir John Fowle had rendered both in the design and in the construction of that grand structure. Like all great men, Sir'Benjamin Baker was ever ready to recognize and state his indebtedness to those who worked with or under him ; and to Si William Arrol and others who did much te realize his design for the great bridge, or to realize his design for the great bridge, or to overcome the enormous difficulties that occur red in its erection, full honour was done in recording its history. But behind it all stands the original and daring conception, based upon scientific principles, and worked out with the greatest care.

Again, as to the Nile Dam, it is only justic o place the work done and the responsibilities assumed by Sir Benjamin Baker in the first place, while realizing that Sir William Will-cocks and others rendered great service. Upon Sir Benjamin Baker, too, as consulting engineer rested the final responsibility for advising as to the increased height to which it has been decided recently to carry the dam. Lore Cromer in his report referred especially to this circumstance, and stated that the solution of the problem of reinforcement and addition which would practically double the storag of water and yet secure safety and strength in the structure, was due to Sir Benjamin Baker. In this case, too, the remarkable qualities possessed by Sir Benjamin Baker were well illustrated. Attention has been drawn by eminent mathematicians to possible causes of failure in dams not previously taken into account by engineers in their designs; and particular reference was made to the Assouar Dam. Quietly and deliberately this problem was studied by Sir Benjamin Baker, and when his decision was reached definite advice was given, which advice, we may be confident, will lead to satisfactory results, and prove an imnense benefit to Egypt.

Cool, quiet judgment and restrained strength were his marked characteristics. His friends will not forget that, when the accident occurred to the roof of Charing-cross Station, Sir Benja min Baker took the risk of personal inspection of the weakened structure in order to advise as to the best means of temporarily strength-

SOUTH OF THE SUDAN.

LIFE IN SPRING.

THE SCYPTIAN GAZETTE, TUBSDAY, MAY 28, 1907.

A very picturesque and vivid description of the great plateau south-west of Lake in its spring aspect is given by a contributo to the "Field." He says :---

For months the country has be and sub-baked. Trees are devoid of foliage, the grass is bleached and dry, and walking through it is atiling work; then come the veldt fires and by September the country is black, burnt and dead, while a heat or smoke haze blots on avd dead, while a heat or smoke haze blots out the landscape and seems merely to intensify the glare of a tropical sun rapidly approaching the zenith. The sky wears a brassy, forbidding aspect ; clouds, angry and hard-edged, bank up in the afternoons ; vivid lightning towards dusk, perhaps a few growts of thunder, an aura of coming rain and then of coming rain, and then, some evening in the beginning of October, the reality.

What a change ! Spring is on us with a rapidity that the temperate climes know not. One good shower, and in two days the face of nature is transformed. Trees burst into leaf birds, which seem to have hidden themselve during the past months, made the days joyou with song. A green carpet overspreads the veldt as if by magic, and the earth smells of the life and moisture with which it is impregnated. The days become cool and the beat haze gives place to a clearness of atmos-phere which is unrivalled even on the South African yeldt.

Go to the top of a kopje and drink in the view. As far as the eye can reach is a vast sea of low forest, broken by conical hills standing like sentinels above the surrounding plain, and by open glades, or "dambos," whose grass presents the most vivid green one can imagine in nature.

Denkens of the Forest.

Now for the denizens of the country. Natives there are few ; some tiny kraals at long inter-vals in the forest. Not so the wild animals, Slowly working their way down an open park a herd of zebra and haartebeest meander, noses to and fro, tearing up the fresh green clods in their search for succulent roots. They always seem busy, these warthogs. A hurried scamper out of the forest into the open, and all are hard at it, nosing up the soft earth; then, without apparent rhyme or reason, tails up in the sir, and off they scamper to another part to repeat the process. Suddenly the antelopes become alarmed heads up for a moment, a hasty sniff round, the danger scented, a noisy clatter of hoofs, the danger scented, a noisy clatter of hoofs, and they are off. The cause of it † Perchance a lion skulking in the neighbouring cover, or, if you are lucky, a roan or haartebeest gallop-ing full tilt across the glade, head thrown back, nostrils dilated, eyes wide with terror, foam flecks on the foreflanks, a pack of hunting dogs in close pursuit, the white splash on their in close pursuit, the white splash on their bushy tails marking the rhythin of their headbushy tails marking the rhythin of their head-long gallop. Nature is here unspoiled. No bul-lock wagons, with swearing drivers, and indis-criminate slaughter of the country's game by their owners. The great tsetse belt to the south takes care of that. The South African invasion has yet to come.

The White Lord,

Perhaps we have a Government official or prospector, with long tail of carriers walking in single file, each his load upon his head. These are in keeping with the country. Tramping silently along the forest path, the rhythmical pat-pat of the bare feet, the glistening black skins make but a momentary impression, and lo, they are gone, swallowed up in the green vista beyond.

Or, perhaps, far away in the distance, the sound of singing-a wild, weird chant. Louder and louder it becomes ; at last it is on you. Round a bend in the path trots a boy in bright-coloured clothes carrying a rifle, then another, perhaps two, a third with a chair a fourth with helmet and waterbottle, lastly a machilla or hammock carried by twelve or more boys in relays of two. These are respon-sible for the singing as they trot steadily

Under the awning, lazily reclining on a leopard skin, lies a white man, smoking peace-fully, reading newspapers at least three months old. A picturesque figure, yet not unkempt ; white buckskin shoes or slippers, loose khaki trousers, white or khaki shirt, a silk kerchier

ROYAL GARRISON ARTILLERY The Artillery visited Guezireh Badrane on Friday last to meet the Institute oricket team Friday last to meet the Institute aricket team. The Gunner's captain won the toss and batted first. A bad start was made Bowman being caught at point of Wilson's second ball and Bradley being bowled with only a single scored. The Artillery batsmen made a poor show against the homesters bowlers, only Corpl. Burgees and Major Smith making any resist-ance. The last wicket fell with the total at 53. Wilson who bowled right through the innings was in splendid form. He bowled very fast was in splendid form. He bowled very fast and took six Artillery wickets for the small cost of 16 runs. Rev. Burns and Windsor who batted first for the home side kept together till 49 were scored, Windsor and Woods then being out in quick succession, the forme being well caught in the slips and the latte bowled. After Rev. Burns was out for a well made 22 May and the Institute skipper Davies made a fine stand and the 100 was hoisted before May left. Walker his successor and before May left. Walker his successor and Davies partnered each till 150 was on the board Davies then being bowled. He had scored 55 in magnificent style without giving the semblance of a chance.
